Envision Stockton – General Plan Update
Visioning Workshops Summary

In September 2016, the City of Stockton hosted a series of workshops for community members to learn about the General Plan update process, review existing conditions, discuss their visions for the future of Stockton, identify areas of the city where positive change might be most likely to occur, and discuss key land use and related issues that should be addressed through the General Plan update. Each workshop began with a presentation by City staff and consultants describing the update process, existing conditions in Stockton, and opportunities for public involvement.

Participants offered input through small group discussions, responding to questions geared at identifying a community vision to guide the 2040 General Plan. The input received at each workshop is summarized below. The detailed notes and comment cards from the workshops are provided as Attachments A, B, and C. Participants were also asked to choose desirable and undesirable building designs from photographs, and the results of these visual preference surveys are provided at the end of this summary. Both that survey and the small group questions have also been available to the community via the City's website as of September 19, 2016.

Workshop #1: Merlo Gym
Tuesday, September 20, 2016

The first workshop was held at the Merlo Gym in South Stockton. Approximately 55 people signed in, and there were nine groups during the small group discussion. A summary of the group responses organized by question is provided below.

1. What do you like most about Stockton?
Participants like that the city is centrally located with access to educational institutions such as Delta College, University of the Pacific (UOP), and California State University (CSU) Stanislaus. Groups also mentioned enjoying attractions such as the civic auditorium, the waterfront, the Stockton arena, and community events like movie nights, concerts in the park, and waterfront Fridays. In addition, participants like the diversity of Stockton residents, family-owned businesses, affordable housing, and living in close proximity to agricultural lands.

2. What would you like to see changed in Stockton in order to make it a better place to live and work?
Participants identified the need for increased safety, more grocery stores, health equity, jobs, housing, infill development, and multi-modal transit opportunities. Groups also mentioned the need for more youth-focused recreation opportunities, homeless outreach services, and a new university (i.e., CSU Stockton). In addition, participants mentioned that they would really enjoy increased entertainment opportunities such as community events, a more active Downtown, a Riverwalk with restaurants, and more open space.

3. Rank the following issues in order of importance for the General Plan Update to address: vibrant and active Downtown; safe residential neighborhoods; traffic congestion; safe and convenient bicycle and pedestrian circulation; improved community services (e.g., police, fire); and job creation.
Groups ranked the issues in order of importance and presented their results to the larger group at the end of the small group discussion. For this summary, the results from each group were compiled, resulting in the following overall workshop rankings listed below in order of importance:

1) Safe Residential Neighborhoods
2) Job Creation
3) Vibrant and Active Downtown
4) Improved Community Services
5) Safe and Convenient Bicycle and Pedestrian Circulation
6) Traffic Congestion

These rankings mirror the common responses to question 2 above, with the need for safety and job creation ranking the highest overall. In addition, groups suggested that the General Plan prioritize the following additional issues: public health, social and equitable approaches to General Plan implementation, youth investment, and arts/culture.

4. Rank the following areas to show where you would most like to see new development, growth, or change happen: Downtown; Midtown; North Stockton; South Stockton; West Stockton; and East Stockton.
Groups ranked the areas where they would most like to see new development, growth, or change happen in order of importance and presented their results to the larger group at the end of the small group discussion. Workshop #2: Seifert Community Center
Wednesday, September 21, 2016

The second workshop was held at the Seifert Community Center in North Stockton. Approximately 60 people signed in, and there were nine groups during the small group discussion. A summary of the group responses organized by question is provided below.

1. What do you like most about Stockton?
Participants like local attractions such as Victory Park, the waterfront, Miracle Mile, the historic buildings in Downtown, and the inland deep-water port. Groups also like that the city is centrally located because it provides easy access to outdoor recreation areas and neighboring points of interest. In addition, participants like the diversity of Stockton residents, cultural and community events, farmers markets, sports fields, and living in close proximity to agricultural lands.

2. What would you like to see changed in Stockton in order to make it a better place to live and work?
Participants identified the need for increased safety, decreased blight, health equity, increased job opportunities, affordable housing, multi-modal transit opportunities, and the preservation of agricultural lands. Groups also mentioned the need for more youth-focused recreational opportunities, career development opportunities, vocational training, homeless outreach services, mental health services, and a new university (i.e., CSU Stockton). Participants also mentioned that they would really enjoy increased outdoor recreational opportunities such as walking, jogging, and biking trails, as well as gardens and open space. In addition, participants expressed interest in promoting tourism and revitalizing South Stockton and the Downtown area.

3. Rank the following issues in order of importance for the General Plan Update to address: vibrant and active Downtown; safe residential neighborhoods; traffic congestion; safe and convenient bicycle and pedestrian circulation; improved community services (e.g., police, fire); and job creation.
Groups ranked the areas where they would most like to see new development, growth, or change happen in order of importance and presented their results to the larger group at the end of the small group discussion. 1) Safe Residential Neighborhoods
2) Job Creation
3) Vibrant and Active Downtown
4) Improved Community Services

1) South Stockton
2) Downtown
3) East Stockton

4) Midtown
5) West Stockton

These rankings are also generally consistent with the responses received at the first workshop, prioritizing South Stockton, Downtown, and East Stockton overall. However, participants at this workshop ranked Downtown higher than East Stockton and Midtown higher than West Stockton.

Workshop #3 (Young Adult and Youth Workshop): Danner Hall, San Joaquin Delta Community College
Wednesday, September 28, 2016

The third workshop, geared for young adults and youth in Stockton, was held in Danner Hall at Delta College. Approximately 80 people signed in, and there were ten groups during the small group discussion. A summary of the group responses organized by question is provided below.

1. What do you like most about Stockton?
Participants like that the city is centrally located with access to educational institutions such as Delta and UOP. Groups also mentioned enjoying attractions such as the Civic Auditorium, the waterfront, the Stockton arena, Miracle Mile, Victory Park, the civic theater, retail shops, the movie theaters, soccer complex, and restaurants. Participants also enjoy community events like the Asparagus Festival, Tamale Festival, and 99 Speedway. In addition, participants like the diversity of Stockton residents, family-owned businesses, affordable housing, parks and open space, the YMCA, teen center, and libraries.

2. What would you like to see changed in Stockton in order to make it a better place to live and work?
Participants identified the need for job creation, increased safety, improved infrastructure, redevelopment, high density infill, bike/pedestrian access, and better lighting of public spaces, especially in the Downtown. Groups also mentioned the need for more youth-focused recreation opportunities, programs that prepare youth and young adults for a post-secondary education, homeless outreach services, parks and open space, gyms, health equity, and a new university (again, CSU Stockton). In addition, participants would like more entertainment opportunities such as community events and cultural museums.

3. Rank the following issues in order of importance for the General Plan Update to address: vibrant and active Downtown; safe residential neighborhoods; traffic congestion; safe and convenient bicycle and pedestrian circulation; improved community services (e.g., police, fire); and job creation.
Groups ranked the issues in order of importance and presented their results to the larger group at the end of the small group discussion. For this summary, the results from each group were compiled, resulting in the following overall workshop rankings listed below in order of importance:

1) Job Creation
2) Safe Residential Neighborhoods
3) Improved Community Services
4) Vibrant and Active Downtown

5) Safe and Convenient Bicycle and Pedestrian Circulation
6) Traffic Congestion

These rankings generally mirror the input from Workshops 1 and 2 and the common responses to question 2, with the need for job creation and safety ranking the highest overall. Participants at this workshop ranked community services higher than did participants at Workshops 1 and 2. Groups at this workshop also suggested that the General Plan prioritize the following additional issues: housing availability for all incomes and improved education.

4. Rank the following areas to show where you would most like to see new development, growth, or change happen: Downtown; Midtown; North Stockton; South Stockton; West Stockton; and East Stockton.
Groups ranked the areas where they would most like to see new development, growth, or change happen in order of importance and presented their results to the larger group at the end of the small group discussion. For this summary, the results from each group were compiled, resulting in the following overall workshop rankings listed below in order of importance:

1) South Stockton & Downtown (tie)
2) East Stockton
3) Midtown
4) West Stockton
5) North Stockton

As with the previous workshops, participants prioritized South Stockton, Downtown, and East Stockton. However, they ranked Downtown higher than at the other workshops, and some people suggested that the southern part of West Stockton (west of I-5) should be ranked as highly as South Stockton.

Two additional questions were asked at the Delta College Workshop:

5. Do you envision staying and working in Stockton after you are out of school? If not, what would need to change in order for you to want to stay?
Many of the participants are planning to or would like to stay and work in Stockton after graduating from school. However, some worried that they would need to move out of the Stockton area if they were unable to find a job. Others already plan to move, often because they don't expect to find job opportunities in their chosen field. In order to remain in Stockton, participants would like to see increased job growth, career opportunities, competitive wages, decreased crime, affordable housing, better services to support community needs, improved healthcare, and affordable options for higher education.

6. What type of job do you hope to have when you are out of school? Do you think that there will be adequate job opportunities for you in Stockton?
Most of the participants do not anticipate having adequate job opportunities after graduating from school. After graduation, many participants are interested in pursuing careers in fields like engineering, biological sciences, environmental science, and medicine/health. In addition, participants expressed interest in pursuing careers in education, counseling, psychology, criminal justice, financial services, and government.

Visual Preference Survey Results

At each workshop, participants were asked to complete a visual preference survey identifying the types of development that they would like to see more of in Stockton. The photos used in the survey are shown on the following pages. Participant responses to these surveys are summarized below.

Workshops #1 and 2 (Merlo Gym and Seifert Center)

The commercial/office/mixed use images that were most desired (i.e., circled the most) were:

- D (3+ story residential/retail mixed use; sidewalk restaurant seating)
- G (downtown Pleasanton)
- C (urban mixed use residential/retail)

The residential images that were most desired (i.e., circled the most) were:

- M (motor-court housing)
- L (townhomes)
- O (live-work spaces)

In general, there were far fewer instances of crossing out photos, indicating that the respondent does not like the development type, than there were of circling them as desirable. Of the photos that were crossed out, most were images A, H, and I, which show a small shopping center and two campus-style office buildings. Image J, the single family residential image, was crossed out the most among the residential photos.

Based on these results, it appears that the survey participants at Workshops #1 and 2 generally favor higher intensity, mixed use, modern buildings, along with multi-family and attached housing types.

Workshop #3 (Young Adult and Youth: Delta College)

The commercial/office/mixed use images that were most desired (i.e., circled the most) were:

- C (urban mixed use residential/retail)
- D (3+ story residential/retail mixed use; sidewalk restaurant seating)
- B (shopping center)
- E (urban mixed use residential/retail)
- G (downtown Pleasanton)

The residential images that were most desired (i.e., circled the most) were:

- J (single family residential)
- M (motor-court housing)
- O (live-work spaces)
- P (high density apartments with open space)

As with the previous workshops, there were far fewer instances of crossing out photos than there were of circling them. Of the photos that were crossed out, most were images A, F, H, and I, which show a small shopping center, small free-standing shops, and two campus-style office buildings. Image K, showing small home/small lot detached housing with no garages, was crossed out the most among the residential photos; however, this photo was circled more than it was crossed out (ten circles versus six cross outs).

Based on these results, it appears that the young adults and youth at Workshop #3 generally favor higher intensity, mixed use, modern buildings, as well as lower intensity shopping centers. Participants at this workshop also like both high-density and attached housing as well as detached single-family homes.

- Issue Rankings:
  - Job creation = high

- S. Stockton - airport, fairgrounds assets.
- DT | S. Stockton = oldest parts - focus there instead of N. Stockton.
- Charter | MLK = asset. Great food | businesses
- High foreign-born pop | diverse. Concentrated in S | DT area. Other cities mix better.
- Charter | MLK | Airport could be cultural center.

- Nonprofits have had to address infrastructure issues at high cost. Can't put that

- DT could be regional destination.
- Sub-culture - 30 days for peace - Community events
  - Channel the subcultures (eg grafitti) ⇒ art/dance/music.
  - More sub culture events throughout city
- Love the airport.
- Movie theaters.
- Weston Ranch = no man's island.
  - Been left alone
  - But good parks

- Not enough services in Weston Ranch.
- In general, need more services in S. Stockton. Not enough grocery stores - people have to travel far or spend a lot at local stores. (Food desert).
- Industrial area = job opp's, but high unemployment. Promote / support this opportunity.
- Sprawl = issue. Affects police / fire response times.
- Need to reduce red-tape for working w/ City. Opportunities for big businesses that have been deterred by fees/red tape.

- Issue Rankings:
  - Job creation = high
  - Crime = high
- Ponce de Leon - need to address crime. #1 highest crime area in Stockton. Need to understand culture.
- Top issue: blight. Esp Harding / Airport. Run-down lempty bldgs, plus landscaping, etc. Need enforcement. Improve bldg facades.
- Need to understand / address underground economy.
- Lack of inf = high priority. Esp. sidewalks & parks

Nonprofits have had to address intastructure issues at high cost. Can't put that burden onto non-profits.

- Need more for young people to do.
  - Skating rinks, skate parks. Only 1 teen center, not placed well. See Oakland example..
  - Need in neighborhoods throughout city.
    - At every corner.

- Need targeted outreach to all neighborhoods. Also coordinate w/ school districts.
  - Also need city/county coordination for areas w/ County jurisdiction/services.
    - This should be youth-led.

Comments (Use back if necessary): This was a good activity by the city government of Stockton to actually hear what its citizens think of the city's state, what needs to change, and what new things to bring to the city. Consultation is a very important element in liberal democracy since sovereignty lies on the people, well at least in theory. I hope the people of Stockton's voice is going to be heard and reflected on the city's forthcoming long-term plan. This city has a lot of potentials, the city government just have to do something about those potentials.

The blue panic buttons as seen on the Delta College and UOP campus should be expanded to areas in Stockton that have bike trails. An idea would be to place this panic button every quarter mile or so. With the massive violence that happens in Stockton everyday, the panic button idea would appeal to all citizens.

Comments (Use back if necessary): Education needs to be invested in. A lot of our schools are very old and still have teacher vacancies. We need to address the homelessness issue. We need more affordable housing downtown. We need more career oriented / professional jobs. CSU Stockton would be great to create here that can address a lot of the issues we already face.

(1) – I would like to see a concerted effort to engage residents in South Stockton on how they feel they should change.

(2) – How about a walking tour of the areas in most need of help. ie sidewalks, parks, schools, medical clinics, – TAKE A SURVEY!!

(3) – Healing our city can be accomplished by focusing our development and planning on those citizens that are in the lowest economic states.

(4) – I'd like to see high density infill with satellite medical/health clinics, food stores, parks & sidewalks. + room for small business. This would

(5) LOWER OBESITY, DIABETES + ASTHMA RATES too

(6) – electric car charging stations

(7) – Implement the Climate Plan on the books.

(8) – lower cost/fees to bring New Business to Stockton.

Thank you for involving the Citizens in the future of their City. We love Stockton!

Comments (Use back if necessary): I'd like to see more businesses and better housing productions done on the South side of Stockton. Environmental needs are priorities involving the city Delta, losing tourist attraction to the smell and algae blooms. Safety

1. Improved community services
2. Safe Residential Neighborhoods
3. Job Creation
4. Safe & convenient bicycle & pedestrian circulation
5. Traffic Congestion
6. Vibrant & active Downtown
